ADOPT SPOONER AMENDMENT

Senate Passes Bill Giving Preference to Panama Route—Synopsis of Its Provisions.

Washington, June 20.—An isthmian canal, while not yet absolutely assured, is nearer to construction than it ever has been. The senate on Thursday by a majority of eight votes adopted the Spooner substitute for the Hepburn Nicaragua canal bill, the vote on the substitute being 42 to 34. After two amendments to the measure had been adopted, one providing for a commission to supervise the construction of the canal and the other providing for the issuance of $130,000,000 of two per cent. gold bonds to raise money with which to construct the waterway, it was passed by a vote of 67 to 6. It has been evident for several days that the Spooner substitute, which in brief provides that the president shall select the Panama route if he can obtain a clear title to the Panama Canal company's property, but otherwise he shall adopt the Nicaragua route, would command the votes of a majority of the senate. The Panama route was considered more desirable by the senate than the Nicaragua route. The only question left open is the title to the property, and that the president will determine, if the house should adopt the senate's amendment to its bill.

Senator Morgan (Ala.) closed the debate with an earnest appeal for the adoption of the Nicaragua route. He had been preceded by Senator Clark (Mont.) in support of the Nicaragua route, and Allison (Ia.) in support of the Spooner proposition. Only minor amendments, except those indicated, were adopted, all others being voted down.

The Spooner amendment, as amended and adopted by the senate provides that the president, through the law officers of the government, shall determine if a clear title can be obtained of the Panama company's property, rights and concessions. If he shall be satisfied that such title can be obtained, he shall purchase the property, rights and concessions for $40,000,000. If, in his opinion, a clear title cannot be obtained, he shall proceed to construct an isthmian canal by the Nicaragua route. The bill further provides that a commission of seven shall be appointed by the president to supervise the work and to make arrangements for all the details of it. It also provides that gold bonds in the sum of $130,000,000 bearing two per cent. interest shall be issued to raise money with which to construct the canal.

COST OF THE WAR.

Secretary Root Sends Information Regarding Philippine Rebellion to Senate.

Washington, June 20.—Secretary Root on Thursday made answer to the senate resolution of April 17 calling for information as to the cost of the war in the Philippines. The secretary shows the total cost of the war to date, including outstanding obligations, to be $170,326,586. He calls attention to the fact that large quantities of valuable property, such as ships, lighters, etc., horses and mules, wagons and harness, clothing and equipment and ordnance, medical, signal and engineering supplies, the cost of which is included in the statement, still remain on hand in the Philippine islands for use. Parts of these supplies are already being reshipped to this country. He says also that a large part of the expense during the past year should not properly be treated as occasioned by military operations in the Philippine islands, for the reason that it consists of pay and maintenance of troops whom we would have to pay and maintain, whether they were in the Philippines or not, in order to keep up the minimum number of regular troops required by law as a safeguard against future contingencies.

A CELERY CAMELIA.

The Flower Was Missing and the Vegetable Was Made to Serve Instead.

While speaking of the serio-comic side of stage life recently, relates the New York Times, Miss Clara Morris told the following story as an experience of her own:

"Somewhere in the wide world," she said, "there is an actor—and a good one—who never eats celery without thinking of me. It was years ago when I was playing Camille. In the first scene, you will remember, the unfortunate Armand takes a rose from Camille as a token of love.

"We had almost reached that point when, as I glanced down, I saw that the flower was missing from its accustomed place on my breast.

"What could I do? On the flower hung the strength of the scene. However, I continued my lines in an abstracted fashion, and began a still hunt for that rose or a substitute. My gaze wandered around the stage. On the dinner table was some celery. Moving slowly toward it, I grasped the celery and twisted the tops into a rose form. Then I began the fateful lines:

"Take this flower; the life of a camelia is short—and held and caressed it will fade in a morning or an evening."

"Hardly able to control himself, he spoke his lines, which ran: 'It is a cold, scentless flower. It is a strange flower.'
